SOCIAL MEDIA RELEASE

The success of Holy Spirit High School Ministry hinges on the relationships that our youth leaders are able to develop with the youth. The most effective way to invite youth and keep youth engaged in our ministry is through personal relationships more than programs. With the advent of social media most youth do not regularly check email or prefer phone calls. As a result we frequently depend on social media avenues such as Facebook and Twitter or even texting for basic communication like invitations or reminders. Our youth leaders are trained and monitored in their use of social media with the youth. For instance a youth leader is not allowed to "friend request" a youth unless the youth first makes the request. They are asked not to engage in ongoing exchange outside the scope of their work as a youth leader. Additionally, the youth state their preferred communication to each youth leader at the start of the year. But we will only utilize these communication tools for connecting with your young person with your permission:

I ___ consent I ___ do not consent (check one) for youth leaders in Holy Spirit High School Ministry to communicate to my child using social media tools such as Facebook and Twitter or text messaging.
